Southwest Winter Camps – Foundation and Advancing

These are the most popular events of the year and it's no wonder folks experiencing one or both weeks have described the Camp as a "retreat with my horse."

While attending a three-day clinic, many people wish they could have another couple days to become more comfortable with their newfound skills. Progress made over five days is phenomenal, and with meals and accommodations provided, there's nothing to interfere with your intensive learning.

Located just north of Phoenix, Arizona, Bumblebee Ranch has hosted this event multiple times, and their warm hospitality makes everyone feel welcome. The only complaint we've heard is that the food is too good and we should warn folks to lose a few pounds before arriving!

The schedule is family-friendly, with orientation over Sunday dinner so you have time to arrive and relax, and with closing ceremonies Friday evening, Saturday breakfast is a fun exchange with your new friends before traveling home to reconnect with family. Week-long camps should be enriching, not stressful...for you, your horse, and your family!

Book early to reserve your rider position for this most memorable and valuable experience. You do everything for everyone else in your life—isn't it time to schedule that special retreat with your horse? It's difficult to describe the experience. Here's what participants have said...

"Karen Scholl is without a doubt one of the most outstanding individuals I have ever met. Karen is a truly gifted and passionate teacher. Her clinics provide an element of fun and safety that makes learning enjoyable and not intimidating. If you have an opportunity to attend one of Karen's clinics you can make permanent positive changes in your relationships with horses. Regardless of how experienced a rider you are or your riding discipline, Karen will provide you with even more tools to help you develop a better partnership with your horse."
